6. Application Requirements:

Please find the Application Requirements and Submission Requirements outlined below (hereinafter, referred to collectively as the "Requirements").

What to Create:

Entrants must develop a NEW next-generation AI Agent that utilizes multimodal inputs and outputs. The project must move beyond simple text-in/text-out interactions. It should leverage Google's Live API with the creative power of video/image generation to solve complex problems or create entirely new user experiences. All projects must leverage a Gemini model, agents must be built using Google GenAI SDK or Agent Development Kit, and projects must use at least one Google Cloud service. All use of Google developer tools, including input and outputs for this Contest must abide by the Google Cloud Acceptable Use Policy at https://cloud.google.com/terms/aup to meet the Requirements, and will be disqualified if they not not abide by the Acceptable Use Policy.

Projects must be built within one of these three categories:

Live Agents

- Focus: Real-time Interaction (Audio/Vision).
- Build an agent that users can talk to naturally can be interrupted. This could be a real-time translator, a vision-enabled customized tutor that "sees" your homework, or a customer support voice agent that handles interruptions gracefully.

- Mandatory Tech: Must use Gemini Live API or the use of ADK. The agents are hosted on Google Cloud.

Creative Storyteller

- Focus: Multimodal Storytelling with Interleaved Output
- Build an agent that thinks and creates like a creative director, seamlessly weaving together text, images, audio, and video in a single, fluid output stream. Leverage Gemini's native interleaved output to generate rich, mixed-media responses that combine narration with visuals, explanations with generated imagery, or storyboards with voiceover, all in one cohesive flow. Examples include Interactive storybooks (text + generated illustrations inline), marketing asset generator (copy + visuals + video in one go), educational explainers (narration woven with diagrams), and social content creator (caption + image + hashtags together).
- Mandatory Tech: Must use Gemini's interleaved/mixed output capabilities. The agents are hosted on Google Cloud.

UI Navigator

- Focus: Visual UI Understanding & Interaction
- Build an agent that becomes the user's hands on screen. The agent observes the browser or device display, interprets visual elements with or without relying on APIs or DOM access, and performs actions based on user intent. Examples include a universal web navigator, a cross-application workflow automator, or a visual QA testing agent.
- Mandatory Tech: Must use Gemini multimodal to interpret screenshots/screen recordings and output executable actions. The agents are hosted on Google Cloud.

Project Team: You may submit your Project as an individual, a team, or on behalf of an organization. A Team must consist of only Eligible Individuals, have all team members added as members of the Project on Devpost. If a team or Organization is entering the Submission, one individual must be appointed and authorized (the "Representative") to represent, act, and enter the Submission, on the team's behalf.

Functionality: The Project must be capable of being successfully installed and run consistently on the platform for which it is intended, and must function as depicted in the video and/or expressed in the text description that you submit with the Project.

New Projects Only: Projects must be newly created by the entrant during the Contest Period. The Project must be your original creation not a modification or extension of your or anyone else's existing work.

Third-Party Integrations: If a Project integrates any third-party SDK, APIs, data and/or any information belonging to a third party, Entrants must be authorized to use these third-party tools and information in accordance with any terms and conditions or licensing requirements of the tool. If using third-party integrations/content/etc;, you must indicate it in your submission description with specificity Testing: Access must be provided to an Entrant's working Project (if available) for judging and testing by providing a link to a website, functioning demo, or a test build. If Entrant's website is private, Entrant must include login credentials in its testing instructions. The Entrant must make the Project available free of charge and without any restriction, for testing, evaluation and use by the Sponsor, Administrator and Judges until the Judging Period ends. Judges are not required to test the Project and may choose to judge based solely on the text description, images, and video provided in the Submission.

If the Project includes software that runs on proprietary or third-party hardware that is not widely available to the public, including software running on devices or wearable technology other than smartphones, tablets, or desktop computers, the Sponsor and/or Administrator reserve the right, at their sole discretion, to require the Entrant to provide physical access to the Project hardware upon request.

Language: The Application must, at a minimum, support English language use. All Submission materials must be in English or, if not in English, the Entrant must provide an English translation of the demonstration video, text description, and testing instructions as well as all other materials submitted.

Multiple Submissions: An Entrant may submit more than one Submission, however, each Submission must be unique and substantially different from each of the Entrant's other Submissions, as determined by the Sponsor and Devpost in their sole discretion.

Submission ownership: Be the original work of the Entrant, be solely owned by the Entrant, and not violate the Intellectual Property rights of any other person or entity.

Intellectual Property: Your Submission must: (a) be your (or your Team, or Organization's) original work product; (b) be solely owned by you, your Team, your Organization with no other person or entity having any right or interest in it; and (c) not violate the intellectual property rights or other rights including but not limited to copyright, trademark, patent, contract, and/or privacy rights, of any other person or entity. An Entrant may contract with a third party for technical assistance to create the Submission provided the Submission components are solely the Entrant's work product and the result of the Entrant's ideas and creativity, and the Entrant owns all rights to them. An Entrant may submit a Submission that includes the use of open source software or hardware, provided the Entrant complies with applicable open source licenses and, as part of the Submission, creates software that enhances and builds upon the features and functionality included in the underlying open source product. By entering the Contest, you represent, warrant, and agree that your Submission meets these requirements. Further, the Entrant agrees that if any portion of the Submission should be deemed to be owned by the Entrant that (s)he will, as a condition of entry, grant the Sponsor a perpetual, irrevocable, worldwide, royalty-free, and non-exclusive license to use, reproduce, publicly perform, publicly display and create a derivative work from, any Submission that entrant submits solely for the purposes of allowing the Sponsor to test, screen and evaluate the Submission for purposes of the Contest and to advertise, display, demonstrate, or otherwise promote the Contest. Entrant specifically agrees that the Sponsor shall have the right to use, reproduce, publicly perform, and publicly display the Submission in connection with the advertising and promotion of the Contest via communication to the public or other groups, including, but not limited to the right to make screenshots, animations and video clips available for promotional purposes.

Financial or Preferential Support: A Project must not have been developed, or derived from a Project developed, with financial or preferential support from the Sponsor or Administrator. Such Projects include, but are not limited to, those that received funding or investment for their development, were developed under contract, or received a commercial license, from the Sponsor or Administrator any time prior to the end of Contest Submission Period. 7. SUBMISSION MODIFICATIONS:

Draft Submissions

Prior to the end of the Submission Period, you may save draft versions of your submission on Devpost to your portfolio before submitting the Submission materials to the Hackathon for evaluation. Once the Submission Period has ended, you may not make any changes or alterations to your Submission, but you may continue to update the Project in your Devpost portfolio.

Modifications After the Submission Period

The Sponsor and Devpost may permit you to modify part of your Submission after the Submission Period for the purpose of adding, removing or replacing material that potentially infringes a third party mark or right, discloses personally identifiable information, or is otherwise inappropriate. The modified Submission must remain substantively the same as the original Submission with the only modification being what the Sponsor and Devpost permits.

8. JUDGING:

On or about the period between March 17, 2026 through April 3, 2026, ("Judging Period") the Submissions will be evaluated by the Judges in the following Stages. Eligible submissions will be evaluated by a panel of judges selected by the Sponsor (the "Judges"). Judges may be employees of the sponsor or third parties, may or may not be listed individually on the Hackathon Website, and may change before or during the Judging Period. Judging may take place in one or more rounds with one or more panels of Judges, at the discretion of the sponsor.

The Submissions will be evaluated by the Judges in the following Stages:

Stage One: The first stage will determine via pass/fail whether the Submission meets a baseline level of viability, in that the Submission includes all Submission requirements, reasonably addresses a Challenge, and reasonably applies the requirements.

Stage Two: All Submissions that pass Stage One will be evaluated in Stage Two by the Judges based on the following weighted criteria, and according to the sole and absolute discretion of the Judges. Each Submission will receive a score from 1 to 5 per criterion and those criterion scores will be averaged per Submission.

- Innovation & Multimodal User Experience (40%):
    - The "Beyond Text" Factor: Does the project break the "text box" paradigm? Is the interaction natural, immersive, and superior to a standard chat interface? Does the agent "See, Hear, and Speak" in a way that feels seamless?
    - Category Execution:

    - (For Live Agent Submissions): Does the agent handle interruptions (barge-in) naturally? Does it have a distinct persona/voice?
    - (For Storyteller Submissions): Is the media interleaved (text, image, and audio) seamlessly into a coherent narrative?
    - (For UI Navigator Submissions): Does the agent demonstrate visual precision (understanding screen context) rather than blind clicking?
    - Fluidity: Is the experience "Live" and context-aware, or does it feel disjointed and turn-based?
- Technical Implementation & Agent Architecture (30%):
    - Google Cloud Native: Does the code effectively utilize the Google GenAI SDK or ADK? Is the backend robustly hosted on Google Cloud (Cloud Run, Vertex AI, Firestore)?
    - System Design: Is the agent logic sound? Does it handle errors, API timeouts, or edge cases gracefully?
    - Robustness: Does the agent avoid hallucinations? Is there evidence of grounding?
- Demo & Presentation (30%):
    - The Story: Does the video clearly define the problem and the solution?
    - The Proof: Is the architecture diagram clear? Is there visual proof of Cloud deployment in the video or submission materials?
    - The "Live" Factor: Does the video show the actual software working (not just mockups)?

Subcategory Prize Determination: All eligible entries will be used to determine the winners for the subcategory prizes. The scores recorded for each individual judging criterion will be used to determine the winner for the corresponding subcategory prize. In accordance with the eligibility rules, if a project qualifies for both a primary Category prize and a subcategory prize, the subcategory prize will be awarded to the next highest-scoring project.

Stage Three: The Submissions that pass Stage One and Two will be evaluated based on Bonus Contributions:

Optional Developer Contributions: Submitting the following optional components will positively impact the score the submission receives from the Judges.

- Publishing a piece of content (blog, podcast, video): Covering how the project was built using Google AI models and Google Cloud on any public platform (e.g., medium.com, dev.to, Youtube, etc.). You can submit more than one piece of content. The content must be public (not unlisted). You must include language that says you created the piece of content for the purposes of entering this hackathon, a maximum of 0.6 points will be added. When sharing on social media, use the hashtag #GeminiLiveAgentChallenge.
- Automating your cloud deployment: Demonstrate that you have automated the deployment process using scripts or infrastructure-as-code tools. This code must be included in your public repository. A maximum of 0.2 points will be added.
- Google Developer Group Membership Bonus: Submissions from active members of a Google Developer Group (GDG) will receive a score boost. Entrants must provide a link to their public GDG community profile for verification. To sign up, visit the site here. A maximum of [0.2] points will be added.

Each Submission will receive a Final score from 1 to 6, with the highest possible Final score being 6.

The highest-scoring Submission for each category will be selected as the potential winner(s). The highest-scoring Submission across all categories will win the Grand Prize. Ties will be broken by comparing scores on each criterion in the order listed, and if a tie remains, judges will vote. If a potential winner is disqualified, the Submission with the next highest score will become the potential winner. Determinations of judges are final and binding.

The award of a prize to a potential winner is subject to verification of the identity, qualifications and role of the potential winner in the creation of the Submission. No Submission or individual shall be deemed a winning Submission or winner until their post-competition prize affidavits have been completed and verified, even if prospective winners have been announced verbally or on the competition website. The final decision to designate a winner shall be made by the Sponsor and/or Administrator. A Submission can win a maximum of one prize. In the event that no entries are received for a region, no prize will be awarded.

On or about April 8, 2026, the potential winner(s) will be selected and may be notified by email, at Sponsor's discretion for Winner Verification Requirement (as defined below). If a potential winner does not respond to the notification attempt within two days from the first notification attempt, then such potential winner will be disqualified and an alternate potential winner will be selected from among all eligible entries received based on the judging criteria described herein. Except where prohibited by law, each potential winner may be required to sign and return a Declaration of Eligibility and Liability and Publicity Release and provide any additional information that may be required by Sponsor. If required, potential winners must return all such required documents within two days following attempted notification or such potential winner will be deemed to have forfeited the prize and another potential winner will be selected based on the judging criteria described herein. All notification requirements, as well as other requirements within these Rules, will be strictly enforced.

The public Winner Announcement will be on or around April 22 - April 24, 2026 at Google NEXT 2026.

"Winner Verification Requirement" means THE AWARD OF A PRIZE TO A POTENTIAL WINNER IS SUBJECT TO VERIFICATION OF THE IDENTITY, QUALIFICATIONS AND ROLE OF THE POTENTIAL WINNER IN THE CREATION OF THE SUBMISSION. No Submission or individual shall be deemed a winning Submission or winner until their post-competition prize affidavits have been completed and verified, even if prospective winners have been announced verbally or on the competition website. The final decision to designate a winner shall be made by the Sponsor and/or Administrator.

Determinations of judges are final and binding.
